

The following is an addendum to the Campbell University Undergraduate Studies Bulletin 2013-2015. This course approved by the University Curriculum Council on October 11, 2013 became effective immediately:

COSU 100 Campbell Online Seminar for Undergraduates (2)

The Campbell Online Seminar for Undergraduates is designed to facilitate Extended Programs students' integration into the online learning community of the University and enhances students' skills for academic success in the online environment. The course reflects the Christian mission and purpose of the University by offering experiences that seek to nurture the faith, learning, and service experiences of online students to help forge a strong sense of community and identity with Campbell University no matter the students' physical locations.

This course is for online students only.