ENGL 204-MC 01 and MC02

Dr. Sherry R. Truffin

Fall 2022

Course Title: Am. Lit in Black & White

This course will examine portrayals of African-American experience in post-Civil War American literature. Students will compare and contrast representations of African-American life in works by black and white writers, explore debates and differences among African-American writers, and examine African-American contributions to literary trends such as realism, naturalism, modernism, and postmodernism.
