CHARTERING CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

All campus organizations must meet certain requirements in order to assemble on campus and to be eligible for other privileges granted to approved clubs and organizations. New organizations receive initial approval through the Student Life Committee by completing the following requirements:

1. A charter application which is located on page 19 of this manual.
2. A full-time faculty or staff member serving as advisor is required for each organization on campus. The advisor's name must appear on the charter application.
3. Submit the completed application and a copy of the constitution or bylaws of the proposed organization to the Director of Student Activities. A sample constitution can be found on the Clubs & Organizations page under the Student Activities on the Campbell University website.
4. The Director of Student Activities will refer the charter application and constitution or bylaws to the Student Life Committee for approval. Approval of clubs and organizations will be based on their statement of purpose, adherence to Campbell University's code of honor, and proper submission of necessary documents. New clubs must also not duplicate the role or purpose of an existing club. Once all documentation has been submitted, approval or denial of a club will take place within 60 business days in an academic year.
5. After approval by the Student Life Committee, the club will meet with the Director of Student Activities. Immediately following this meeting, you will need to create a new club account on Creeksync.
6. The general requirements of campus organizations at Campbell University must be observed by the organization in order to maintain an approved status. For more information, see the IOC Handbook published by the Office of Student Activities.
7. Students may not be compensated financially by outside organizations for chartering, leading, or participating in IOC clubs. Violations of this policy may result in the immediate suspension and removal of the club charter.

2. Clubs must re-register their organization with the Office of Student Activities every year. This will either be via Creek Sync or other online forms. An up-to-date constitution must be on your Creeksync page. Any changes to your constitution must be submitted to the Office of Student Activities for review and approval. Clubs must also have designated a primary contact, an IOC representative, and an advisor in the club page on Creeksync.
3. All events which meet any of the following criteria will require a discussion meeting between the IOC Representative and the Office of Student Activities.:
  - a. Events held off-campus that involve travel.
  - b. Events that require any contractual arrangements with off-campus persons or businesses.
  - c. Events that charge admission or collect money in other ways for fundraising or other purposes.
  - d. Events that involve off-campus visitors, performers, or groups. If contracts are involved, the event form must be submitted prior to commitment. Please allow at least four weeks for contracts. Events that meet these requirements may take up to two additional weeks to approve.
4. All organizations must have an advisor that is a full-time university faculty or staff member who must agree to attend the meetings and functions of the organization. Advisors can only advise up to two clubs at a time.
5. Organizations are required to deposit all funds at the Bursar's Office on the 2nd floor of the McLeod Admissions Building.

12. The office of Student Activities reserves the right to suspend or remove any student organization or cancel any club events for non-compliance with rules or CU policies, or for conduct that is not in the best interest of the university. Appeals of this decision may be heard by the Student Life committee.

MAINTAINING AN ACTIVE AND APPROVED STATUS

ANNUAL RE-REGISTRATION

Clubs and organizations are required to re-register annually on Creeksync or by a google form, depending on the chosen method for that year by the Office of Student Activities, in order to maintain an active status. During this process the club must designate an IOC representative, primary contact, and Advisor. Additionally, they may be asked to attach a copy of their constitution and upload a club image. The clubs have until the Friday, September 15, 2023, to submit the form if they haven't done so already. Any submissions past that day will result in a written warning to the club.

APPROVED STATUS

The rights and privileges of campus organizations are only granted to those that have been approved by the University. The Student Life Committee is the governing body which approves charters, places organizations on probationary status, and revokes charters. In order to be approved by the Student Life Committee, an organization must be supportive of the mission of the University, have an approved advisor, and comply with all of the general requirements for clubs and organizations. An approved status is required for membership in the Inter-Organizational Council and qualifies the organization for matching funds from the Student Government Association. Approved organizations may miss no more than one Inter-Organizational Council meeting per semester. Approval by the University enables the organization to publicize its activities in the Calendar, on campus, and on the Campbell web site. An organization that has an approved status may use campus facilities, vehicles, and various campus services such as Facilities Management and Aramark Dining Services as permitted under each of these entities policies.

PROBATIONARY STATUS

Probationary status is assigned to all new organizations during the first semester as an approved organization on campus. This status is also given to any organization that fails to meet the requirements for maintaining an active status and before being placed in the dissolved status. Organizations placed on probation continue to have all the rights and privileges afforded on active status. However, it also means that the organization's approved status is tentative. If the club remains on probationary status for two consecutive semesters, then the club will move to tier 4 and be dissolved. If an active club receives a disciplinary action, the next offense will result in a meeting of the Student Life Committee to address the issue. Serious violations of the handbook may result in the immediate disciplinary action by the Student Life Committee.

DISSOLVED STATUS

If a club or organization has two consecutive semesters of probation, the club will move to tier 4 and be dissolved. That means that their charter will be revoked, and they will no longer be recognized as an official club on campus. Clubs that have been moved to the dissolved status will have all funds in their account returned to the SGA IOC fund. Inactive clubs wishing to regain an active status must reapply through the chartering process.

THE ROLE OF AN ADVISOR

RATIONALE

A significant portion of a student's time is spent in experiences outside the classroom. On-campus clubs and organizations provide a structured format to enhance the total learning experience of students by providing them with opportunities to supplement their academic studies and to achieve vocational, leadership, and developmental skills. Participating advisors of these groups provide valuable guidance and assistance in the learning process. The advisors also provide a formal link with the university administration by interpreting its mission, policies, and procedures.

REQUIREMENTS

Each club and organization on campus must have an advisor in order to be approved by the university. Advisors must be a full-time employee of the university, at least 21 years of age, and not on leave of absence from the university during any portion of the term. Advisors cannot advise more than two clubs or organizations. Current advisors with more than two clubs or organizations, as of August 2023, may continue to advise their clubs and organizations.

After Tiers have been determined, funding from SGA may be distributed based on clubs' tiers. Clubs on probation will have a chance to be reevaluated at the end of the current semester and qualify for a higher tier at the end of the semester.
