

HISTORICAL AND THEOLOGICAL STUDIES

ABOUT THE MASTER OF DIVINITY DEGREE

The Master of Divinity degree prepares students for a variety of ministry opportunities such as church leadership, social ministry, chaplaincy, education, missions, and church music ministry. Students who sense a call to pastoral ministry, full-time vocational ministry, or who desire to prepare for an academic career in college or university teaching are especially encouraged to pursue the Master of Divinity.

The core curriculum is designed to prepare students pursuing full-time vocational or bi-vocational ministry with the basic biblical, theological, historical, and ministerial foundations needed for Christian ministry. Concentrations are offered to assist students with focusing on a particular area of ministry. A minimum of 18 hours in an area of concentration of the 90 required for the Master of Divinity are needed for an individual to meet the requirements to complete a concentration as part of the degree program. A minimum of 18 hours in a concentration must be included in the 90 hours required for the degree.

Faculty advisers are available to counsel with students regarding course selection. Throughout the curriculum, students are led to develop their spiritual lives and to engage in theological reflection and dialogue. Also, additional electives are available for students to study in the areas of their interests and gifts.

HISTORICAL AND THEOLOGICAL STUDIES CONCENTRATION

The Historical and Theological Studies concentration equips students with in-depth knowledge of church history and the central teachings of the Christian faith. By increasing their knowledge of the Christian tradition, students are able to teach, preach, and minister with greater depth and sensitivity to timeless religious questions. Course topics include the histories of various denominational traditions, women's roles throughout church history, the person and work of Jesus Christ, the church's engagement with modern culture, the Trinity, Christian ethics, and the formation of Christian character. Students may also pursue practica that involve compiling the written history of a church, exploring some aspect of applied theology or ethics, or conducting other independent studies of historical and theological topics.
