Introduction to Theological Education

Taught by Dr. Barry Jones, Dean of Campbell Divinity

Curious about what it means to study theology, or even what Divinity School is? This course is a good fit for you! Introduction to Theological Education is a welcoming starting point for students who are exploring Christian ministry or graduate-level religious study for the first time. You'll be introduced to the big questions, key ideas, and core subjects that shape theological education.

Women in Christian Leadership

Taught by Dr. Sarah Boberg

Are you interested in leadership development in a ministry context? This class focuses on developing leaders who are rooted in spiritual growth, shaped by calling, and attentive to culture and context. Come explore the personal and leadership skills needed for ministry today, with a specific focus on the ways gender shapes how we lead and serve.

DATE + TIME: THURSDAYS 8/27/26-12/10/26, 8:20 AM-10:50 AM

Teaching the Bible to Children and Preschoolers

Taught by Dr. Sarah Boberg

Come spend the week discovering practical skills and creative tools for teaching the Bible effectively to children 12 and under. We will engage in hands-on classroom experiences, mini-field trips, and experiential practice focused on creating and leading age appropriate, meaningful and intentional Bible study experiences for various settings.

Spiritual Formation for Christian Leaders

Taught by Dr. Jillian Marcantonio

What does it mean to be formed spiritually? In discerning and following God's call, Christians across time and space have drawn on spiritual practices. Come journey with us as we explore questions and practices around spiritual formation!

DATE + TIME: TUESDAYS 8/25/26-12/8/26, 8:20 AM-10:50 AM

Church History I

Taught by Dr. Jillian Marcantonio

Join us virtually as we explore how Christians interpreted Scripture, followed Jesus, and served the Lord from 100–1500CE. In this course, we strive not simply to learn about our Christian siblings but to learn from them as well.
